

Score of Old Cases Removed from Court Calendar by Judge

Supreme Court Actions Pending Over Two Years Removed by Judge Foster When Reasons for Their Continuance Were Not Sufficient.

Over a score of cases, which have been pending in Supreme court for more than two years, were stricken from the calendar Monday afternoon pursuant to the strike-off rule of the court. At the opening of court the calendar of cases over two years at issue was called by Clerk James Simpson and Judge Foster struck from the calendar all cases which were not moved for trial or some good reason shown why they should be continued.

Nearly 200 cases came under the rule and approximately 50 cases were moved for trial at this term. These cases will either be disposed of at this term or go off the calendar unless they cannot be reached during the term of court. Judge Foster announced that the cases would be called today and from the list a day calendar made up.

Among the settlements announced were:

No. 19, Martha C. Schantz, executrix of Philip Schantz, against John Cutting and another, an action on contract. N. LeVan Haver for plaintiff and William H. Montgomery for defendant.

No. 32-A, Robert H. Doyle, as infant by Stephen O. Durland, his guardian ad litem, against Frank Ray, an action to recover damages for negligence. Clarence A. Hoonbeek for plaintiff and Turner & Murphy for defendant.

No. 123, Bertha Cameron against Jacob Cronk, negligence. Manuel Dittenheimer for plaintiff and C. H. Bore for defendant.

No. 190, Mary Elliott against Florence Chase and others, Brinnier & Elsworth for plaintiff and Charles Walton for defendant.

No. 176, Meyer Pinsky against Julius Zuckerman, action to recover for property damage. Joseph Kooperman for plaintiff and Morris Kanter for defendant, was discontinued by consent.

No. 137, Jacob Forst Packing Company, Inc., against Joseph Mayer and another, an action to set aside fraudulent conveyance. William A. Kaereher for plaintiff and Andrew J. Koek for defendant, was referred to Judge G. D. B. Hasbrouck as official referee.

No. 112, Employer's Liability Assurance Corp., Ltd., against Herman Rosenkrantz, a negligence action. A. J. Cook for plaintiff and Cleon B. Murray for defendant, the complaint was dismissed without costs. Similar action was taken in No. 150, Gideon Tompkins against Henry J. Myer, Frank W. Brooks appeared for plaintiff and Ireland, Caverly and Hendrickson for defendant.

In the action brought by Anna Graham and others against the Knickerbocker Insurance Company of New York, an action to recover insurance on a building which burned at Lapala in February, 1932, the jury returned a verdict in the sum of $5,000 for plaintiffs.

Testimony in the action brought by Raymond Chenele of Bolleville against Tompkins & Beve, Inc., and James H. Leddy was concluded and a sealed verdict directed. Plaintiff seeks to recover for damage to an Auburn car which was damaged on February 2, 1932, at Dobbs Ferry when a car of defendant corporation and driven by Mr. Leddy collided at the corner of Broadway and Cedar street in the town of Dobbs Ferry while Mr. Chenele was enroute from Bolleville to New York. It was a stormy day and had been snowing. Plaintiff alleges that Leddy drove his car from a side street into his car and damaged it while the defendant corporation brings a counter claim for damage to the car driven by Leddy on the grounds that the Chenele car rounded the corner at Broadway and Cedar street and collided with the Pontiac car of defendant which was nearly stopped at the time. Mr. Leddy testified that the Chenele car skidded in making the turn and struck his car near the cross-walk and before he had entered the intersection. Leddy testified that after the collision, which he said in his opinion was unavoidable, both parties had been told by the police officer at the scene that they should have chains on and both put chains on. The Chenele car he said then continued on while his car was towed to a service station for repairs. Mr. Chenele testified that the Leddy car failed to stop and came out from the side street into traffic and struck the Chenele car on the right hand side near the front end. At the time Leddy was making a left hand turn and cutting through south bound traffic ahead of the Chenele car according to plaintiff.

Edward Carey Cohen appeared for plaintiff and N. LeVan Haver appeared for defendants.

TUG BLEW UP AT HIGHLAND FALLS SATURDAY NIGHT

Literally boiled to death, Walter Solberg of New York city, a deck-hand, died in his bunk when a mysterious explosion wrecked the tugboat "Confidence" as she lay alongside a dock at Highland Falls at about 9:20 p. m. Saturday.

Ernest Thurston, another member of the crew, is dying in Cornwall Hospital, while James Canfield, a third victim, is suffering from serious burns.

Council on Monday Voted $15,000 for Work Relief Here

That Amount Will Carry on the Work During October and November—At That Time New Mayor Will Be Consulted as to His Plans for Handling Work Relief Problem.

The common council in special session Monday evening unanimously voted to appropriate an additional $15,000 to carry on emergency work relief in Kingston during October and November. This money will be used to complete the work already done by work relief men on North street and Delaware avenue, complete Roosevelt avenue; elevate the curbing on East Strand, between Sycamore and Gill streets; to remove protruding rock from Sherman street and repair that street, and to supply men to cut firewood to be distributed to needy families this winter.

Although the meeting had been called for 8 o'clock it was an hour and a half later before the session opened, due to the fact that the special committee on work program was meeting with Mayor Carey in his office to discuss plans for work relief here.

When the meeting did convene, however, it moved swiftly to a close. The special committee on work relief program stated that it had met with the mayor and outlined the plan approved of granting an additional $15,000 to carry out the projects named. This money will be sufficient to carry work relief on through October and November and then whenever is elected mayor at the November election will be asked to give his views on any work relief program that may be adopted.

Because the resolution directing the raising of $27,000 for home relief work did not contain the statement that an emergency existed and the money was needed, it was necessary for the aldermen to adopt a new resolution embodying those words before it would be accepted by one of the local banks. The original resolution was rescinded and the new resolution unanimously adopted.

Alderman Schwenk introduced a resolution that the board of public works repair East Chester street and Clifton avenue.

The council then adjourned.

Three Cars Involved In Accident Monday

Three Cars in Accident Near Old Toll Gate On Plank Road Late Monday Evening—Two Fined.

Three cars were involved in an automobile accident which took place near the old toll gate on the Plank Road about 10 o'clock Monday evening. They were a Ford sedan driven by Floyd F. Sheeley of 13 Broadway, Haverstraw; a Chevrolet coupe driven by William R. Sanford of Dunraven, N. Y., and a Chevrolet truck, which was towing another car, driven by Louis Affron of 35 Murray street, Kingston.

Sheeley, who was following behind the truck, both headed toward West Hurley, turned to pass it and collided with the Sanford car which was being driven toward Kingston. Both cars were badly damaged in front, but Sanford was able to drive his car to the Cornell street garage, the other car being towed in.

Green Sees Increased Wages, Shorter Hours

Washington, Oct. 10 (AP).—Administration agreement soon to a re-opening of existing NRA codes so wages may be increased and hours of work shortened, is looked for by President William Green of the American Federation of Labor.

Green based his belief on statements made before the federation convention by two persons high in administration councils—Senator Robert F. Wagner, chairman of the labor advisory board, and Secretary Frances Perkins of the labor department.

Mayor Carey Proclaims "Now Is The Time To Buy"

Office of the Mayor
City of Kingston, New York

Eugene B. Carey, Mayor.
Local National Recovery Administration Committee,
Kingston, N. Y.
Gentlemen:

At the request of the Organization Division, Bureau of Public Relations of the National Recovery Administration, I do hereby formally declare and proclaim the opening of the "Now Is The Time To Buy" campaign in Kingston. As Mayor of Kingston, I do hereby set aside the last three months of this year as the time during which all the resources, patriotism and co-operative spirit of our community should be mobilized to translate into permanence the progress already made in the NRA Blue Eagle campaign, and to further advance us on the road back to prosperity.

The failure of the people to buy nothing more than bare necessities during the depression period has been caused largely through fear that the future might have something worse in store for both individuals and business. I feel that now is the time to instill confidence in the minds of the people. The sooner and more completely our merchants replenish their buying demands the more we will escape the penalty of increasing prices. Our people for the past two years have been getting the benefit of only starvation wages and since a higher level of prices is an essential of returning prosperity, this proclamation is made to convince our people that higher standards of value are to their self-interest.

This appeal is made to the business men of Kingston as well as to the consuming public, and I call upon our merchants to keep prices as low as possible as long as possible so that they might gain volume of sales, both based on the appeal of President Roosevelt for such action and as a sound policy on the part of business.

Given under my hand and seal this 9th day of October, 1933.

EUGENE B. CAREY,
Mayor.

Jap Official Hints At Break Between Russia and Japan

Japanese Contend Documents Circulated in Moscow Stating She Has Formed Plot Against Soviet—Japanese Seek Assurance.

Tokyo, Oct. 10 (AP).—New differences between Russia and Japan rose today to clutter the path to continued peace in the Far East.

Tentatively, said a Japanese foreign office spokesman, Japan will content herself with an investigation of the circulation at Moscow of documents which allegedly described a Japanese plot to seize the Chinese Eastern Railway.

Then he added, "Stronger measures may be necessary" unless guarantees of "good faith" immediately are forthcoming from the U. S. S. R.

The new threat to peace, like others before it, was born of the protracted wrangling over negotiations for the sale of C. E. R.

Japan entered the conversations officially as a mediator in the projected sale by Russia to Nippon's puppet state, Manchukuo.

But charges have fared frequently in the Soviet capital that Tokyo was going further—was in fact, as most lately asserted, joining in a plot to seize the road.

The plan, as reported in Moscow, was to arrest six Soviet officials of the road and thus accomplish the ousting of Soviets from all authority in the management.

The new Russian charges, aired in Moscow through the Soviet News Agency, Tass, were labeled "utter fabrications" by the foreign office spokesman.

Further, he termed publication of the alleged official documents as evidence of "bad faith" on the part of Russia.

For this "we must demand amends, a retraction and guarantees of future good faith," he said. "Otherwise stronger measures may be necessary."

CHARLES A. RYAN WITH RUPPERT NOW

Charles A. Ryan of 105 Foxhall avenue has joined the Jacob Rupprecht Brewing Company as Ulster county sales representative and is now covering the same territory over which he traveled as one of the leading salesmen for the Fitzpatrick & Draper cigar firm when it had its factory in Kingston and later in the east.

Beer ordered through Mr. Ryan will come to Kingston through the Poughkeepsie distributing point, being carted in the big green and gold auto trucks of the Rupprecht concern.

For the convenience of boxholders, the lobby at the main post office will remain open until 9 p. m., at Uptown Station until 5 p. m., and at Rondout Station until 4:30 p. m.

Left Jail With $50, Returns Penniless

Joe Steinhilber is "One of Our Best Spenders" According to Jail Authorities—Just Out of Jail Four Hours And Is Returned—Other Police Court Cases.

"Well Joe, I understand you are one of our best spenders," remarked Judge Calloton, this morning in police court, addressing Joe Steinhilber of Flatbush avenue, who faced him on the old familiar charge of public intoxication.

"I guess you're right," replied Joe with a smile.

Joe was recently sentenced to 10 days in the county jail for public intoxication. He received his sentence on his 63rd birthday he informed the court at that time. Monday morning at 9 o'clock he was discharged from jail with $50 in his pockets, and 1 o'clock that afternoon he was arrested for public intoxication and when brought to jail was without a cent.

Even Joe did not know where the $50 went in four hours.

"I guess we had better take care of you for the winter," said the judge as Joe pleaded guilty to the public intoxication charge.

He sentenced Joe to six months in jail.

Wise Returns Home.

Nathan Wise, 18, who was arrested Saturday night when found in the office of Dr. T. Hampton Jones at 261 Fair street, had his hearing adjourned Monday morning to Wednesday so that the police could check his story. Later in the day, however, his mother came to Kingston and got in touch with Judge Calloton and talked over the situation in which her son found himself. Dr. Jones was also consulted and had no objection to the boy being given a suspended sentence and turned over to the mother which was done.

Three Train Riders.

James Reilly, Thomas O'Toole and Derby Macon, the latter a negro, were arrested Monday by Detective Goodsell of the West Shore police force, who charged them with stealing a ride on a West Shore train.

This morning all three received suspended sentence provided they left town within the hour.

Gangland Victim Listed as "Squealer"

Chicago, Oct. 10 (AP).—The body of Gus Winkler, dapper heir to part of the affluence of the old Capone gang, lay in a morgue today—mute evidence of the gang rule that dead men tell no tales.

In gangland they call talking to authorities the "squeal" and it was the theory of investigators that his enemies pumped four volleys of shotgun pellets into his body yesterday to keep him from telling what he knew about the $250,000 mail robbery in Chicago last December.

Winkler was the second person linked with the robbery in one way or another, to die. The other was Edgar B. Lebensberger, owner of a swanky club, on Chicago's near north side. Lebensberger was found shot to death the other day shortly before it was revealed that he was under indictment in connection with the robbery. Some investigators said he might have been murdered, despite a coroner's verdict of suicide.

And while Winkler's body lay in a mortuary there were newspaper reports that his slayers have marked for death, one of possibly two other men to silence them in the federal government's investigation of the robbery.

Railroad Stocks Sold To Investment Trust Dropped Millions

Stock Sold by Dillon, Read and Company Depreciated Millions in Value After It Was Sold to Investment Trust, Is Testimony Before Committee.

Washington, Oct. 10 (AP).—Railroad stocks sold by Dillon, Read and Company to one of its investment trusts when prices were plummeting in 1929 were shown in the senate investigation today to have depreciated millions in value since.

Tracing the transactions through testimony by E. D. Tracy, president of the banking firms investment trusts, the committee learned that the portfolio of the United States and International Securities Corporation last December 31 showed a $26,562,000 shrinkage of assets.

Of this, said committee counsel, Ferdinand Pecora, about 40 per cent of $11,192,000 was in stock of railroad that have since gone into receivership, stock that largely was purchased from other Dillon, Read interests. The roads were the Rock Island and the Frisco.

One of the most persistent questions at the sparsely attended hearing was Senator Couzens (R-Mich) who last week charged that "some wise guys" unloaded the depreciated railroad stock on the trusts, in which the public had invested $75,000,000.

PHILIP J. DOHENY RUNS ON TWO POLITICAL TICKETS.

Philip J. Doheny of 20 Adams street, alderman of the Eighth ward, seeking re-election, is the candidate on both the Republican and Democratic tickets, he having been endorsed by members of the two political parties. Up until yesterday his name had not been on the list of Republicans appearing in print.

Customs receipts for the month, $7,673,233.47. Receipts for the fiscal year to date (since July 1), $789,973,878.79; expenditures, $1,009,500,350.42 (including $205,913,715.90 emergency expenditures); excess of expenditures, $219,526,471.63.

Kidnap Threats Net Jail Terms

New York, Oct. 10 (AP).—Nicollina D. Palma, Yonkers nurse, was sentenced to five years imprisonment, and James Medley, former gasoline station attendant, to ten years by Federal Judge Alfred C. Cox today on their pleas of guilty to threats to kidnap a niece of Russell C. Leffingwell, partner in the Morgan banking house.

Sentence was imposed after counsel for the nurse had made a plea of mercy for both defendant and Assistant U. S. Attorney Alvin Sylvester read four threatening letters allegedly written by Medley and one said to have been written by Miss De Palma.

Young Business Man Used an Electric Battery to Shock Her Lost Memory

After One Treatment the Mystery Girl in Kingston Hospital Remembered She Was Sadie Pagano of Marlborough—She Had Had Similar Experiences in Past.

JACOB H. TREMPER, JR.

Republicans of the Second ward have chosen as their candidate for alderman this year, Jacob H. Tremper, Jr. Mr. Tremper, who is associated with the firm of DeWitt, Tremper-Osterhout, Inc., one of Kingston's oldest insurance agencies, is a promising young business man whose genial personality and business ability has won him a wide circle of friends. Before his return to his home town, he was assistant manager of the Uptown Office of the Globe Indemnity Company in New York city. He was also for some time employed in Hartford, Conn., with the National Fire Insurance Company in their Home Office as examiner.

Living in the Second ward all his life, Mr. Tremper received his primary education at School No. 6, and later attended Kingston High School. He further took courses at Williston Seminary, Easthampton, Mass. He is a member of the Kingston Kiwanis Club, where he serves on the international relations committee and also a member of the Twaalfskill Golf Club, where this year he was chairman of the Tournament Committee. Two years ago he was married to Miss Frances Bushnell of this city. Mr. Tremper, too, is a member of the Twaalfskill Golf Club where she is active on the House Committee.

Mr. Tremper's acceptance of the candidacy for alderman of the Second ward marks his first venture in politics. However, his business training should particularly fit him for the requirements of the office for which he has been named, his occupation bringing him into contact with people in all sections of the city, and giving him a familiarity with the people and their needs which should prove invaluable to him as a member of the Board of Aldermen.

For many years he has been a member of the First Reformed Church of this city, and has also definitely associated himself in the insurance business by becoming a member of the Insurance Society of New York as well as the Insurance Four Square Club. Two years ago he was active in the Y. M. C. A. drive and this year his civic activities have led him to associate himself with the Boy Scout movement as a divisional captain.

ORGANIZED RELIEF FOR JEWISH REFUGEES ASSURED.

Geneva, Oct. 10 (AP).—Organized relief for Jewish refugees from Germany definitely was assured today.

A resolution adopted by the League of Nations Assembly's Economic Commission provides for the creation of a high commission and governing body—outside the machinery of the League—to which a commissioner will submit periodic reports.

Appointed by the League Council, the high commissioner "will provide insofar as possible work for refugees in all countries which are able to offer it," the resolution reads.

The Council is asked to invite states and if it thinks necessary private organizations best able to assist the refugees to be represented on the governing board "which will have the duty of aiding the commissioner in his work."

BIG DEMAND FOR GRAPES IN MILTON WHEN PRICE DROPS.

Milton, Oct. 10.—Grapes were cut for sale last Monday. The first day a few were sold with the price at 30 cents a basket. But the demand was small that day and Tuesday, Wednesday there was no demand at all and grapes went as low as 28 cents. Thursday came a big surprise. The price dropped to 25 cents and there were more buyers than there were grapes. Trucks left the Hudson River Fruit Exchange with half loads and many buyers did not get any at all. This week, if the weather is cool, will be the peak of the grape season, growers feel.

Florida Voting on Repeal.

Tampa, Fla., Oct. 10 (AP).—Florida voted today to decide whether the state would be 33rd to sanction repeal of the 18th Amendment or the first in the country to oppose it. Repealists sent out a last hour plea through Postmaster General James A. Farley and Governor Dave Sholtz who spoke here last night.

Heaviest First Day Registration in N. Y. C.

New York, Oct. 10 (AP).—The heaviest first day registration in the city's history bore testimony today to the widespread interest which the three-sided fight for mayor has aroused.

The total number of registered voters on the opening day was 314,927, exceeding by 40,027 the first day total last year when 274,900 qualified to vote for president, governor and mayor. On the basis of yesterday's total, the belief was expressed that the 1932 record of 2,334,131 voters might be exceeded.

Meanwhile, more turmoil appeared in the political picture as additional Tammany supporters deserted the candidacy of Mayor John P. O'Brien and turned to Joseph V. McKee, independent candidate. Most of the defections, McKee came in Brooklyn and Queens.

Mayor O'Brien continued his outsting of municipal office holders supporting McKee by dismissing William J. Cahill, Commissioner of Correction, Charles E. Keegan, Examiner of the Board of Aldermen, and Mary K. Kennedy, Deputy Commissioner of Licenses, all of whom are backing the Independent ticket.

Militia Guard Mines, Fear Spread of Strike

Sullivan, Ind., Oct. 10 (AP).—National Guardsmen acting under a proclamation of "military control" patrolled Sullivan county roads today to guard against renewal of disorders attending the picketing of co-operative bituminous coal mines.

At the same time officers of the Guard watched over districts of the Indiana coal field where signs of impending strikes or violence were reported.

Major N. L. Thompson said an airplane flight into southern Indiana this morning was designed to determine advisability of sending troops into Gibson county. He received reports last night that groups of men were assembling on roads leading to the Francisco and Somerville mines in that county.

Meanwhile, the Guardsmen also heard that a mass meeting of miners in the Clinton, Ind., field would decide whether they should strike to add those in Sullivan county.

Rotary President Lauds Scout Work

Kingston, N. Y., Sept. 22, 1933.

Dr. L. H. Vandenberg, Pres., U. S. Army, Kingston, N. Y.

My dear Dr. Vandenberg: Our boys keep growing up regardless of business conditions and that they develop into good citizens is a matter of the greatest concern to all of us.

The tragic lack of supervised recreation and the lack of moral training have contributed to the downfall of many boys who have later been convicted of crime.

The Boy Scout movement is a most effective agency for the development of character and leadership and deserves the whole-hearted support of our citizens.

Respectfully,

President Kingston Rotary Club.

Victory Ball Will Be on November 10

The 15th Annual American Legion Victory Ball will be held in the new auditorium on Friday evening, November 10.

Each year since 1919 Kingston Post of the American Legion has held their annual ball to celebrate the signing of the armistice ending the World War on November 11, 1918.

During the first several years the proceeds of the ball were used for the establishment of a building fund and about $5,000 was accumulated through the years which went toward the building of the local memorial building. Since the building has been completed, the proceeds of the ball have gone toward the operating expenses of the memorial building and toward the fund of caring for disabled and destitute World War veterans.

The Victory Ball has grown through the years from just a ball to one of the outstanding social events of each season. The Legionnaires have brought famous dance orchestras to Kingston and some of the finest artists in the country have entertained and thrilled the audiences in the program of entertainment that always precedes the ball.

This year's ball will be directed again by Edward J. Hillis, under whose direction the Victory Ball has achieved its fine distinction. The Victory Ball committee has been appointed as follows:

JOY-RIDE THE DOLLAR

By GOUVERNEUR MORRIS

What stands between you and prosperity? Between you and the right to earn high wages if you are willing to work? Between you and the right to save and accumulate money and property against the days of your old age? Why nothing very much—nothing but the dollar. But not just any dollar—not the dollar that you spent in the grocery store, or lost at the races or through a hole in your pocket; not that dollar but the one that you are not willing to spend or throw away or lose.

The dollar that circulates—the dollar that passes from hand to hand and at the end of the year has done the work of a thousand dollars is fighting for you. It is your friend. But the dollar that cannot move, that is hamstrung because of greed or fear is fighting against you. Do you wish to give up your car and go back to the horse, to draw your water from a well instead of a faucet, to get your knowledge of what is going on in the world from a little bird instead of from a radio, to travel in a covered wagon instead of the latest Boeing? Then keep your dollar, hide it away, invest it in something which does not employ labor, let a bank freeze it, beat the Liberty over the head and emasculate the Eagle!

If enough dollars do not begin to circulate within a brief time, our civilization is over, and your ham-strung emasculated dollars will no longer be dollars. They will be of no more value than so many pinches of dust down the wind. And you would be better off if you had hidden away a sack of potatoes.

The NRA is an experiment. We are told that if it fails we shall try something else. That is good hearing, but it may be too late to try something else. The NRA must not be allowed to fail. And unless dollars are lavishly spent so that dollars may be lavishly earned and lavishly spent again it will fail.

Spend your dollars now so that later you may have a chance to save dollars.

Put your weight back of those who are trying to release the hidden and imprisoned dollars. Force out the coward dollars and make gentlemen adventurers of them.

If we don't make a beginning of doing these things, and doing them quickly, we and the world with us stand to be set back by hundreds of years. And if what we have and are is worth having and being we must not have any thought but for the immediate jeopardy in which we find ourselves. Pry loose your dollars and send them joy-riding.

Electric output for nation for week ended September 30th, was up 10.2 per cent over corresponding week of 1932 and 9.9 per cent over preceding week.

KINGSTON, N. Y., OCT. 19, 1933.

One of the problems recently pre-

Private initiative, which has hitherto endeavored to lend the help necessary, cannot long continue this task, and the presence of so large a number of immigrants is bound very soon, in view of the existing unemployment, to cause serious difficulties in several countries. It will be necessary to organize international collaboration in order to take appropriate measures, among other things to place these refugees in different countries without adversely affecting the national economic situations of those countries.

Something probably will be done about this problem. The League of Nations may be weak when it comes preventing war, but more and more it is accomplishing other fine and important things. It is such activities which make it seem well worth preserving. Eventually it may be able to check an aggressor nation, but that power, apparently, will have to be built up by successes on other lines first.

The American housewife, according to figures from Washington, is paying 20 per cent more for her groceries now than she did last winter. Any advance in the retail price of food is naturally grievous to the housewife, even though, as the administrator observes, it means a 50 per cent increase for the farmers. Just the same, a newspaper caption which says "Only 80 Cents Worth of Food for $1.00 Now," is fair. As a matter of fact, everybody is still getting a great deal more than 80 cents' worth of food for a dollar, when you consider the prices and the normal value of the keeper of a flourishing mid-western zoo is worrying as he is the onset of winter. He worries particularly about a cheetah, two leopards, two gazelles, two horned cranes, three zebras, a water buffalo and a family of monkeys. "I've developed pneumonia very badly," says the keeper. "I don't think I ever saved an animal that had pneumonia, and I never heard of

The little breath of air had died away. None of the shadows in the garden moved. And then all at once the shadow by the gate moved. He heard the click of the latch, the soft creaking, a little and a little came a few slow steps along the path. He stopped between the pond and third rose-trees and looked up.

And then quite suddenly he turned and went down the path and out at the gate. The gate clicked, and everything went on again.

Caroline found herself taking deep choking breaths. Her heart beat furiously. The next thing she saw she was on the stairs, running down; and then the door was opened and she was on the brick step, listening.

— Jim! Jim! Wait for me!"

CAROLINE came to the corner and saw the whole front of the house and the gravel sweep before it unshadowed in a faint moonlight. In the middle of the sweep stood the man whom she had followed standing looking up at the house.

HEZ went past the churchyard and passed the church. They came to the green, with the pond catching the moonlight like looking-glasses. There were trees still along the edge of the road, trees with leaves of moonlight in between. Then he crossed the moonlight bridge, Caroline was afraid. She felt a familiar path in the darkness, feeling strengthened. It took him into Hazelebury West with the sure sense of a homing animal, and it had brought him here.

As he stood staring at the house, the strangest sense of forgotten things came to him from the shape of the three pointed gables, the half seen chimney stacks, the blank win-

A Washington Daybook

By HERBERT PLUMMER
WASHINGTON—Some Washington politicians put it down as more than a mere coincidence that Pat Hurley was urging national support of the NRA in Washington on the same night that Mrs. Watson of Indiana was lambasting the Roosevelt administration in a speech at Chicago.

Politically speaking, they argue, things like that just don't happen. While the secretary of war in the Hoover administration and the former Indiana senator are about as far apart in their republicanism as the poles, they are nevertheless members of the same party.

According to the best information, it appears that Hurley promised some time ago to speak for the NRA. As far as is known, he asked nobody's advice on the question: nor did he consult anyone as to what he should say.

It was strictly a personal proposition with him.

Worrying The Old Guard

When certain elements of the republican party became convinced that Hurley was really going through with his promise they became alarmed. The Old Guard never has been quite able to figure Pat out. It was skeptical this time.

The situation, from their standpoint, was all the more grave because he was the first of the Hoover official family to add his endorsement to the policies of the democratic administration. Whatever the Old Guard might think of Hoover or Hurley themselves, they felt they ran the risk that the country might construe Hurley's utterances as being representative of the whole party.

That would have been highly undesirable for them. So the old wheelhorse of their wing of the party was brought out for the occasion. It didn't particularly matter that the setting was a rally of local Chicago republicans. They knew the Watson thrust would find their way to the front pages, and be compared with what Hurley had said, the next morning. That's exactly what happened.

Three G. O. P. Views
Opinion is divided as to what the reaction will be. But, be that as it may, the incident serves to suggest the different schools of political strategy represented among the republicans. The first urges support of the President to attain the objectives of his recovery program. The second is openly critical. And the third counsels silence.

POULTRYMEN AND 4-H CLUB MEMBERS COOPERATE

The fine cooperation of the poultrymen of Ulster county with 4-H Club poultry members has contributed much to the success of the poultry club projects of the county.

During the last year the Central New York 4-H Egg Laying Contest has attracted the interest of the 4-H poultry club members of Ulster county, especially because George Schneider's pen was in the lead, and because his pen made a record which compared very favorably with those made by the high scoring pens belonging to adult poultrymen.

It has been possible for Ulster County 4-H Club members to enter three pens in the 1933-34 Egg Laying Contest at Horseheads because of the assistance and cooperation they have received from poultrymen in the county. Claude Kieffer, Kingston, Route 4, is sponsoring the entry of a pen of eight Single Comb White Leghorns raised by Franklin Kelder, Accord. George Schneider, St. Remy, has entered a pen of White Leghorns. His sponsor is I. J. Kauder, Edgewater Farms, New Paltz. William Mehrmann, Jr., Saugerties, is sponsoring the pen, also White Leghorns, belonging to Joseph O'Brien, Saxton. Mr. Mehrmann is local leader of the Saxton 4-H Poultry Club.

The 118 junior poultrymen of the county who are 4-H Club members are encouraged to set good standards and to use improvements in their flocks whenever possible. All 4-H poultry club members are urged to enter the Ulster County 4-H Laying Contest conducted each year. The interest and cooperation of adult poultrymen throughout the county is a large factor in building profitable flocks for the 4-H poultry club members.

The Cornerstone of Permanent Security

It's a BIG JOB—this job that the government and the dairy farmers are tackling together. A job that's MIGHTY IMPORTANT to you city folks, too.

Dairy farming is the BIGGEST SINGLE INDUSTRY in this territory. Business in your cities—employment for city workers—depends a lot on the money that the dairy farmers spend WHEN THEY HAVE IT.

But for some time the farmers HAVEN'T HAD MUCH MONEY. So, you city folks haven't had a lot of the business and money and jobs that you used to have.

That's why your governing authorities had a commission spend a year studying the problems of the dairy farmer. That is why, FOR THE GOOD OF ALL THE PEOPLE, that commission recommended CO-OPERATIVE MARKETING to ALL the dairy farmers.

Right now the several state governments in this milk shed are giving the dairy farmers TEMPORARY HELP with PART of their problems. We farmers of the Dairymen's League appreciate that help—and are giving the authorities all the support we can.

But the states CAN'T do the whole job. The PERMANENT solution must come from the farmers themselves.

So long as part of the farmers of this Milk Shed attempt to sell their milk as unorganized individuals, COMPETITION BETWEEN THE FARMERS THEMSELVES WORKS AGAINST THE COMMON GOOD OF ALL.

Those who advocate CO-OPERATIVE ORGANIZATION for the dairy farmers are working for the best interests, not only of the dairy farmers. BUT OF YOU FOLKS IN THE CITIES, TOO. For by CO-OPERATION, the dairy farmers are able to GUARANTEE the GREATEST POSSIBLE protection for your milk supply. At the same time it will mean a return of prosperity for the dairy farmer who will, again, spend in cities and towns, creating jobs for city workers—increasing each community's wealth.

Accredited Herd Association Met

About 50 members of the Ulster County Accredited Herd Association met at the Court House in Kingston for the ninth annual meeting on Monday night. Fred DuBois of New Paltz, the vice president, presided in the absence of the president, Millard Davis of Kerbside.

After brief opening remarks by Mr. DuBois and approval of the minutes of the previous meeting, the financial report for the year was read showing a small balance on hand.

Dr. H. F. Fleming of Gardiner was called upon for his annual report. The following are some figures from his report: During the past fiscal year 14,542 cattle have been tested, including all tests of both accredited and non-accredited herds; there are now 2,352 herds which are accredited or free from bovine tuberculosis; this includes all those owning only one cow; 714 additional herds have had one clean test during the year, since the inauguration of the work in 1923 a total of 103,412 tests have been applied to cattle in the county; this includes all initial testing and all re-tests.

James T. Tucker of Wallkill was unanimously re-elected as a director of the association for a term of three years. The board of directors now consists of Millard Davis, Fred DuBois, W. C. Cotton of Saugerties, Frank DuBois, Gardiner, and Mr. Tucker.

A few miscellaneous matters were brought up for discussion. Albert Kurdt, manager of the Farm Bureau, reminded those present about the Holstein Club auction sale which will take place on Friday of this week, at New Paltz and spoke briefly about the proposed milk code for the New York milk shed. Mr. Kurdt was also asked to report on the Farm Bureau dairy program as recently arranged by the county committee. There being no other business, the meeting was adjourned and Chairman DuBois thanked everyone for coming out and making this one of the largest meetings of the association in several years.

ROUNDTOWN PRESBYTERIAN WOMEN HELD SESSION

The October meeting of the Roundtown Presbyterian Women's Missionary Society was held at the home of Mrs. P. A. Canfield, 72 McEnroe street, on Tuesday afternoon, October 3, at 3 o'clock. After the business and devotional part of the meeting had been dispensed with, the introduction to the study book, "Eastern Women, Today and Tomorrow," was given by Mrs. Irving W. Scott.

This was followed by a review of the first chapter which was illustrated by four tableaux—Miss Elizabeth Bishop acting the part of a Hindu woman, Miss Grace Terwilliger, a Chinese woman; Miss Shirley Phillips, a child wife of India, and Mrs. C. J. Heiselman, a Japanese woman.

Plans were made to attend the Presbyterian meeting at Freedom Plains October 12, and also for the November meeting, which will consist of a historical program, celebrating the fifty-fourth anniversary of the society.

A social hour followed, delicious refreshments being served by the hostess.

WEST SHOKAN

West Shokan, Oct. 10.—Charles and a group of the C. C. C. members from Shokanville were again present at the local Sunday afternoon church service and favored by being parts assigned on the musical program. Mrs. Ahrens and Miss Helen Thompson alternated at the organ. "Softly and Tenderly", "I Love To Tell The Story" and "The Old Rugged Cross" were rendered as special selections. The day's Sunday school session provided a topic for a well-reading discourse presented by Pastor Ahrens. Service as usual next Sunday following the Sunday school at 2 o'clock. The camp singers will favor with their presence and talent. Everyone cordially welcome. Through the generosity of the Ladies' Aid, which has donated $100 for salary, is hoped with the Sunday offerings to continue the services through November.

The following group representing Shokan I. O. O. F. Lodge, No. 451, were present Saturday evening at the Ulster County Past Grands Association open meeting held at the home of William H. Raymond, Lodge, No. 59: Past District Deputy Arthur E. Trowbridge and Virgil C. Gordon. Past Noble Grands: A. Elmendorf, Henry L. Winchell of Kingston, Lester B. Davis, Alonzo Davis, Elwyn C. Davis, William Shults, Vice Grand LeGrand Shults, Past Vice Grand James Gordon and Edward Coons of Tilton. Representative delegations were also present from New York city, Kingston, Port Jervis, Bearsville, Rosendale, Gardiner and New Paltz.

The Community Sunday school was very well attended last Sunday. It was extended a most cordial invitation to be present next Sunday at 11 o'clock. The topic will be "Paul's Antioch".

Born Saturday, October 7, at Kingston Hospital, a bouncing, 10-pound son, to Mr. and Mrs. Lauren Lesley of Main street. Mother and son are doing finely. Mr. and Mrs. Lesley's many friends shower congratulations.

The local Ladies' Aid Auxiliary will hold its second weekly quilting of the season Wednesday in the church basement. ## ANOTHER LANDMARK FALLS BEFORE PROGRESS

Another landmark of earlier days in Kingston is giving way before the onward march of progress. Workmen are now busy tearing down the old stone house at 81 North Front street. The main walls, two feet in thickness, are in a fair state of preservation, but some of the big heavy floor timbers have not stood the ravages of time so well. A Pan-Am station will occupy the site. The property is owned by S. Leventhal, who purchased it some years ago.

German Police Dog Is

Classified as Shepherd

The German police dog is classified by the American Kennel club as a shepherd dog.

The shepherd dog, Judy's Encyclopedia explains, "has different official names in various countries. In America the correct name is shepherd, in England Alsatian, and in Germany the German shepherd. Popular usage calls him the police dog."

"In this country he must not be confused with the shepherd dog as known a quarter of a century ago and still seen on many farms. This type of shepherd is an offshoot of the collie, with a mixture of other blood, but is not as common as a century ago."

"The shepherd dog; that is, the German shepherd or police dog, was first definitely known about the middle of the Nineteenth century." His history before that, it appears, is obscure. "No known infusion of wolf blood is recorded, and his wolflike appearance is entirely a matter of breeding."

Poison Ivy Easily Recognized

Poison ivy, of the cashew family, is to most people poisonous to the touch. It is common in meadows and fields and it climbs over rocks and around trees. It is easily recognized by its three sharply-cut leaflets, the middle one of which is on a slightly longer stem. It grows tightly upon any support, where it attaches itself and clings by numerous rootlets. It is the resinous sap that is poisonous, and this exudes from the under surface of the leaves and along the stems. The small flowers have five sepals, five petals and five stamens and grow in inconspicuous clusters. The fruit resembles a berry, being a white or yellowish stone fruit.

Use of Latin

Latin, like all languages, is a growth; and the so-called Romance languages are merely the changes due to growth and locality that have taken place in "classic" Latin: just as Latin grew from some unknown source. Much Latin literature was written from 200 B. C. to 500 A. D., but especially around the time of Christ, when Roman culture was at its height. In the Twelfth century much of this literature was revived. In the meantime the language had suffered the inevitable change, losing much of its stateliness and beauty. Scholars, most of whom were Catholic clergymen, revived Latin literature as it was originally written.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS & SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS
HOLLYWOOD — Beauty contest winners now adorn so many newspapers that it may cause skepticism to relate the debut of Larry Darmour into the picture business.

It was after brief preliminary training that he embarked on a career of newspaper photography, trusted with the job of shooting a big fire in Salem, Mass. "Because there was nobody else to send," he says.

But among his first assignments was to get some shots of a young woman who had been designated as the nation's most beautiful girl. Larry pursued his quarry but found her elusive and unwilling to pose. But he got his pictures—by concealing himself behind a tree, and hiring a small boy to leap out, "yelling blue murder," as the girl approached.

This was around 1913, but the postscript has a modern flavor. When she found she had been tricked, she was gracious enough. "But," she said, "if you find they aren't good, please let me know and I'll pose for you!"

Darmour took his camera to Europe about World War I, and remained to photograph war and peace conference scenes before returning to America.

It was from his newspaper experience, he admits, that he took his cue when he became a film producer. The newspapers demanded action shots, and Darmour believes in "action pictures" even in the Mickey Rooney "kid" series, where the youngsters move much more than they talk.

Picking Lloyd's Films

The character is Clarence Budington Kelland's new story, "The Cat's Paw," doesn't wear horn-rimmed spectacles, but numerous fans felt that Harold Lloyd should be the hero of the picture version and wrote in to tell him so. It so happened that Lloyd himself, who wanted Kelland's last novel but lost it to Buster Keaton, already had bought the rights—and the hero will be spectacled as usual.

The fans do write in about pictures for their favorites. Enough of them saw the old best-seller "David Harum" as a "natural" for Will Rogers to assure it a place on his list of "things to do today."

New Music For Operetta

Incidentally, M-G-M's plan to create some new music for the old operetta, "The Merry Widow," recalls somehow that famous billboard advertising of "The Taming of the Shrew," by William Shakespeare, with additional dialogue by Sam Taylor.

Willy Nilly's Talk

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER

Before the Ducks and Chickens came into school from recess Willy Nilly, the little gnome-like man, who was acting as the principal, gave the other teachers a talk.

"Now, we, too, must all learn many things to make us finer," he said. "I know that I haven't enough backbone. I'm too ready to attend to the work and interests of others and neglect my own. I simply must pay attention to my sticking-out, pointed ears and I must set everything to rights and do a great deal to prepare for the winter."

"Others among us must not be vain and we must not be greedy and we must not gossip and we must not take each other's things."

The talk was over and the little pupils had taken their places on the porch, but before the lessons commenced Christopher Columbus Crow whispered to Jelly Bear:

"I hope Top Notch, the Rooster, took that to heart about being vain."

And Jelly Bear answered:

"I hope so, too, and I trust that Mrs. Quacko Duck will try not to be such a gossip."

Mrs. Quacko Duck whispered to Top Notch: "I trust that Christopher will be careful about taking any one's things after that," and Top Notch replied:

"Not only that, but I hope that Jelly Bear will feel ashamed about his greediness."

Each took the talk for his neighbor instead of for himself!

But now Rip, the Dog, was trying to bring the class to order. It was a very difficult task.

TRY before you BUY any new heating equipment

You can try out GAS HEATING in your own furnace for an entire season

DON'T commit yourself to any important changes in your heating arrangements until you have investigated the TRIAL PLAN for gas house-heating. Here's what it offers:

1. Installation in your own furnace without important changes. No digging, no brick-work, no storage equipment.
2. An advance estimate of the season's cost for fuel guaranteed. You need not pay more than the amount of this estimate, and if the estimate is exceeded, you may remove the equipment without loss.
3. No large investment in equipment. Since gas is the most easily controlled of all fuels used for heating, the burner equipment is the simplest and the least expensive. And you need not pay for it until you satisfy yourself of its value by a whole season's trial.

On the basis of this guaranteed trial plan for gas, the most completely automatic of all heating fuels, can you afford to buy anything else without first trying GAS?
Use the coupon below for preliminary information.

At The Theatres

Kingston: "Night Flight". The struggle of man against nature is the reason for this picture, a daring, interesting and brilliant story of man's desire to conquer the air and make flying possible in all types of weather and the darkness of night. John Barrymore as the manager of the air-line has but one desire, to fly the mail regardless of the weather. Reports of bad weather over the Andes or the Pampas do not stop him from sending his pilots through just the same, often with resulting tragedy. The thrills are numerous in this talkie, as the pilots buck through the darkness, fly blind, or are lost in the storms they must fly into. Some of the finest air scenes ever taken in one picture are to be found in "Night Flight", and although the plot centers around the grim determination of man to better nature with its resulting catastrophes, the excellent photography, cast and general lavishness of the production makes up for the negligible qualities of the story proper. John Barrymore, Lionel Barrymore, Helen Hayes, Myrna Loy, Robert Montgomery, Clark Gable, and William Gargan are members of a giant cast. The direction is by Clarence Brown. Worth seeing.

Orpheum: "Bed of Roses" and "Rome Express". Constance Bennett is the star of this drama, the story of a girl who seeks the easiest way to live. Joel McCrea, Pert Kelton and John Halliday are in the supporting cast. "Rome Express" is in the "Grand Hotel" manner as it takes various passengers on board a fast European train, and the camera follows first one, then another, through a series of exciting incidents. Conrad Veidt and Esther Ralston are in the cast.

Broadway: "The Silk Express" and "Sunset Pass". The Broadway again returns to double features with the first an exciting murder mystery aboard a train. Swift action, capable direction and intense acting all help to make this show a thriller. It seems that gamblers have cornered the silk market, so when the manufacturers order a supply from the silk train en route from Seattle to New York, Neil Hamilton, Dudley Digges, Sheila Terry, Allen Jenkins, Guy Kibbee, and Arthur Byron all have featured parts. "Sunset Pass" will prove fine entertainment, and is so well handled that people with an aversion to westerns will enjoy it. The plot is from a novel by Zane Grey, and it moves along at an amazing rate of speed. For riding perfection, several western movie stars go through their paces, and the scenery is grand. Randolph Scott, Tom Keene, Harry Carey, and Kathleen Burke are all members of the cast.

Tomorrow:
Kingston: Same.
Orpheum: "I Cover the Waterfront" and "Love is Dangerous". A newspaper story of a reporter's life along the Pacific coast is depicted with unusual gusto in the first feature. The movie version is adapted from the novel of the same name by Max Miller, and the difference between the book and the talkie is striking. The movie is melodramatic, the book was thoughtful, the movie is spiky and modern while the novel lacked these touches. And yet this story is appealing on the screen, as well as a highly exciting Ben Lyon is perfectly cast as the carefree reporter, while Claudette Colbert makes an enjoyable heroine. Ernest Torrence also stars in this last picture he plays in before his death. "Love is Dangerous" is just another movie with Rochelle Hudson and John Warburton.

Tips on CONTRACTIONS

Fake Squeeze
By TOM O'NEIL

When contracts are impossible to fulfill against the best defense, the expert is loath to abandon hope. He gives the adversaries a chance to win. One effective method at times is the pseudo-squeeze, that is, running out a long suit (trumps) unless a trump contract is involved, hoping that the enemy will discard wrong and set up cards of other suits that otherwise would not take tricks.

Such squeezes fail probably more often than they succeed, since an alert defense counts cards. Here is a successful one involving ingenious deception:

NORTH
♥76
♦83
♣10982
EAST
♠Q86
♥Q1082
♣KJ654
SOUTH
♠AKJ943
♥AJ975

The hand was in a New York duplicate game, Miss Lee Goode sitting West opposite William J. Huske. Both sides were vulnerable.

The dealer opened the auction with a spade, East saying two spades after North's pass. With a strong two suiter South overcalled with three hearts, and the dealer bid four diamonds. East's four spade bid ended the auction.

South intended to bid diamonds if opportunity presented itself, but after West's offering of that suit had hopes of setting the contract, since the hand structure and North's passes indicated that North might have something in spades.

North opened the heart seven, which won the trick when the card was not covered in dummy. North then led the deuce of clubs and South assumed that North had no more hearts. The club was won with the knave in dummy.

North's idea was to prevent the declarer from setting up a heart or club trick by taking entries out of dummy especially because of his trump and club holdings.

After the successful finesse of the club knave a diamond was led from the East hand. South came up with the ace and led the king of hearts. Much to his amazement, West trumped.

A low diamond was led from the West hand and ruffed East. The finesse of the spade queen lost to North's king. North shot back another low club, which was won West.

A Way To Make It
A method of making the contract now occurred to West. She led her last three trumps, which exhausted North and forced discards from South. Trying to prevent the heart queen from making, he unguarded his diamond knave and Miss Goode took the game-going trick with the ten of diamonds.

This was the situation prior to the lead of the last spade:

♠—	♥—	♦—
♣—	♠—	♥—
♠—	♥—	♦—

South thought he was not to blame for assuming that West had another club to lead to the king and make the queen of hearts good. It looked like a real squeeze to South. North answered that his club leads obviously had a purpose, to keep West out of dummy at a crucial time and that South should have thrown his useless hearts.

South thought that West might have bid a four-card diamond suit to the king, in which case he would have another club to lead to the king, also that if North had continued the hearts on the second trick West could hardly have avoided being set two tricks. Such a set was suffered by some Wests at other tables. Miss Goode obtained a top with her pseudo-squeeze.

Triangle Club Meeting.
The Kingston Triangle Club will meet this evening at 6:30 in the Y. M. C. A. for its usual weekly meeting. The Triangle Club is the Service Club of the local 'Y', all members being members of the 'Y' and interested in the Y. M. C. A. problems and activities. At the first fall meeting last week, plans were laid for a very active season in the social functions of the organization. Dr. Julian I. Gifford, as chairman of the entertainment committee, announced that there would be excellent programs presented for the year and all members were urged to be present and bring as many friends as possible to enjoy these programs. The speaker for this evening will be Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy, whose presence is always popular because of his personality as well as his message. This is "Fire Prevention Week" and Chief Murphy has a great fund of practical information at his disposal. An invitation is extended to all men of the 'Y' or any interested in the 'Y' to become affiliated with the Kingston Triangle Club. Any information regarding its features may be had by seeing the officers of the club or General Secretary C. S. Schoonmaker of the Y. M. C. A.

ME KNEW THE PLACE

When the reformer had proved to his audience that England was just about as bad as she could be, the glum-faced man at the foot of the little platform passed a remark.
"H'm," he said blankly, "what you seem to want is a place where everyone has to be good by law."
"That's it, my good man," said the reformer, "a place where strong drink is unknown, where no one worries about food or clothes, where everyone has to go to church, and keep regular hours." He paused after a while.
"Well, to find such a place as that," "That's easy," said the glum-faced man. "I've just done a 12 months' stretch in a place like that."—Pearson's Weekly Magazine.

How to Reduce Heating Costs

by JOHN BARCLAY
Heating Expert

In last week's article I discussed the turn damper—the furnace control that helps to cut down "chimney loss."

The other controls to be discussed are the Check and Ash-Pit Dampers, which are used to regulate the speed of your fire.

The check damper is a flap-like damper which is usually located somewhere along the chimney pipe. Opening this damper holds back the fire when heat is not required. The ash-pit damper is located below the grates and controls the amount of air entering the ash-pit.

For best operation, the ash-pit and check dampers should work simultaneously; that is, when the check damper is open, the ash-pit damper should be closed. On some furnaces there is an arm or lever located on top of the furnace with a chain connected to each of these dampers, so adjusted that when one opens the other closes. If this arm is working properly, when the required heat is obtained, the arm will automatically open and close these dampers.

During mild weather, when you want a slow, lasting fire, your check damper should be wide open and the ash-pit damper closed. This saves coal. As the weather gets colder and you want a hotter fire close your check damper slightly and open the ash-pit damper. In extreme cold weather, close the check damper completely and open your ash-pit damper wide.

If you use one of the automatic heat regulators that are available, these functions will be performed with complete relief from hand operation.

ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS
J. L.—Corbinville, Penn.—Gases in the house can be caused in any one of several ways, i.e.: (1) Improper firing methods; (2) Improper location of check and turn dampers; (3) Cracked fireproof allowing gases to escape into air heating chamber; (4) Leaky joints in the flue pipe; (5) Foreign substances in the flue pipe or chimney; (6) Use of fire door to check fire.

The check damper should be located on the chimney side of the turn damper.

The fire door and ash-pit door should be kept closed at the time of checking the fire.

C. M. G.—Clayville N. Y.—We have no information regarding the type of stove you describe. We have mailed the name of the manufacturer of a new stove that may be the one to which you refer.

Either hot water or steam heat would be suitable for your building. However, the hot water system is usually more expensive than a single pipe steam system.

A short method of determining the radiation required is as follows:
Cubical contents of room divided by 170 equals "A". Net glass area divided by 3 equals "B". Net exposed wall area divided by 12 equals "C". The total of "A", "B", and "C" equals the number of square feet of steam radiation required. The same total multiplied by 1.5 will equal the number of square feet of hot water radiation required.

Talks to Parents

Solitary Confinement

By BROOKE PETERS CHURCH

Solitary confinement which many parents use in preference to spanking as a punishment for children has very real dangers and should seldom, if ever, be used.

To shut a child away from the normal activities of life means bottling up a tremendous amount of energy which must find an outlet somewhere. Many of the bad habits of childhood which persist during life, often with serious consequences, have their origin in the hours spent alone in a closed room, or lying in bed in broad daylight when sleep is impossible.

The psychological effect on the child is quite as harmful. The initial anger at being shut away from his playmates is nothing to what he builds up during the course of his punishment. Self-pity, desire for revenge, black hatred—all have a place in his thoughts, and he comes out of his room, not chastened, but embittered by his experience.

This concentration of unpleasant emotions, if of frequent occurrence, can do more to make a child morbid and revengeful than any number of corporal punishments, and the evil effects on the child's digestive system of the poisons which are released, further aggravates the state of mind.

Punishment should not be used to express vengeance, but to produce improvement. It often is desirable to let a child think things over in his own mind. When this is the case it would be well to explain the need for solitude to the child and let him choose the spot where he will do his meditating.

If he is very little, a chair in the same room with the family, or near where his mother is at work, will do very well. One does not need physical so much as mental seclusion for thought.

The handbox

The handbox dates back probably 200 to 300 years. It takes its name from the fact that it was made out of a wide circular band of paper or pasteboard with top and bottom added. The name of the inventor is unknown.

OPTOMETRY

Delay brings nothing but more trouble, complications, discomfort. Have an optometric examination now.

S. STERN

Raccoon collared tweed coats are of a guppy tweed, favoring dropped sleeves.

"Gude Scotch plaids" for the small and bigger girls are "gude." Note the deep yoke, long sleeves, and pique collar of this dress.

A classic style softly molded, double breasted.

Knit jacket costumes. A one-piece Copenhagen dress with navy blue jacket with scarf and cap to match. The three-piece costume (extreme lower right) of navy wool jersey for sisters and brothers. The broadcloth blouse laces in sailor fashion.

Coats with broad shoulders brightly colored, designed by Lyotene.

New York—Plaids are not for all of us, even so there are quantities of them being worn, both cut on the square and on the bias, according to preference and expediency—bias plaids being more kind than the regulation sort.

At the start of the season the odds are about even as to whether stripes or plaids will win. Stripes have a slight edge perhaps because they are easier to wear. Both are very much worn, especially from the waist up, it being a year of contrasting and novel blouses.

The wool blouse is no novelty, but it has won its place and remains as always, your very truly. It is the corduroy and more especially the velveteen blouse however, about which we are shouting just now. It is just the sort of thing the collegiate likes. How many thousands of them will be showing up at bowls and stadiums during the football season it is quite impossible to determine. The nicest part of it is that they come in almost the identical college colors and when topped by a beret to match are likely to prove a distraction worth cheering.

Most blouses have some sort of a collar. It may be one of those adjustable scarf arrangements, or it may be some thing that is not adjustable, like the back that buttons up to the collar line and calls it a day. Or it may not button, for since frogs have been re-discovered they have been leaping back to favor and giving even huge wooden buttons a run for their money. Anyway if fashion is obeyed you will certainly be all buttoned up for the winter, or fastened up snugly but with no loss of chic. Our everyday, and even best autumn clothes can be no more accurately described than as hot stuff.

Blouses Win More Stripes

Striped blouses are important among the newest and best-selling numbers. Taffeta pin stripes in white make a striking pattern choice on dark grounds like brown, and navy and wine. In this fabric, the jacket blouse with high neckline, tiny turnover collar and crossover closing is a favorite. Jersey velvets, striped in monotone or plain, make interesting tunic blouses. Ruby red and pine green are typical colors. Details include rope-belts and epaulettes.

DID YOU KNOW THAT

The windblown and off-face silhouette of Maria Guy's is well typified by many tones in felt or fabric with the full, forward movement, which suggests the careless wind-blown line.

Paton's wild blackberry is a color to substitute for black, especially as it is complementary to so many contrast tones.

When you're HEALTHY you're HAPPY

Happy days are usually healthy days. Why not add to these sunny days!

Poor health and constipation go hand in hand. Get rid of common constipation by eating a delicious cereal.

Tests show that Kellogg's All-Bran provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to aid regularity. All-Bran is also twice as rich in iron as an equal weight of beef liver.

The "bulk" in All-Bran is much like that in leafy vegetables. How much better than taking pills and drugs—so often harmful!

Two tablespoonfuls daily are usually sufficient. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

The new Broadway theatrical season which has brought George M. ## Financial and Commercial

New York, Oct. 10 (AP)—Good, but not too good, was the general feeling today among financial men. The market was generally in a narrow and tentative range.

Minor irregularities spotted the stock list in the early hours and the activity was about as low as that of yesterday. There were occasional surges, both upward and downward, but none of them seemed to get very far and most of the speculators resumed their places on the sidelines to wait for "something to happen."

Grains and cotton were a little easier at times and other commodities were

Seek Lost Mouthpiece

Three men were busily engaged this morning cleaning out the catch basin at the corner of Clinton avenue and Maiden Lane, carefully raking over the mud and debris as it was hauled up by means of a pump and rope. In reply to a question by a curious passerby one of the men stated that they were looking for "the Salvation Army's mouthpiece."

He went on to explain that while the Army band was playing near the corner Monday evening one of the players dropped the mouthpiece from her corner and it fell down through the grating into the basin.

Boiceville Man Wins Suit in Supreme Court

Raymond Chene Awarded $229.45

In Action Growing Out of Automobile Collision—Cases Put on Day Calendar.

Raymond Chene of Boiceville was awarded $229.45 in supreme court this morning by a jury which heard the evidence in an action brought against Tompkins & Berens, Inc., and James H. Leddy. Plaintiff claimed that Leddy, driver of a car owned by the defendant corporation, collided with the Auburn car of plaintiff at Dobbs Ferry on February 2, 1932 and damaged the car to that extent. Defendant's corporation brought a counter claim for damage to the Pontiac car operated by Leddy.

The jury returned a sealed verdict at the opening of court in favor of plaintiff "for the full amount." This form of verdict was improper and Judge Foster inquired of the jury as to the amount of the verdict, instructing the jurors that their verdict should be in dollars and cents. The foreman of the jury stated that the jurors had not known the exact amount of the claim of plaintiff, whether it was $229.15 or $229.45. The verdict was corrected.

In an effort to find some case ready for trial today Judge Foster called the ready cases and also all cases which came under the strike-off rule. None were ready today and the following cases were put on the day calendar for Wednesday and counsel in the cases was instructed to be ready when the cases were reached or they would be stricken off under the rule of the court.

Nos. 117, 131, 132, 134, 135, 136, 138, 141, 155, 156, 157, 158, 159, 164 and 165.

Court recessed until 10 o'clock Wednesday morning.

Flashes of Life
Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press.)

A Proud Workman.

Chicago—Apparently Charles C. Bittner is the kind of man who takes pride in his work.

He testified before Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson that he had been making quarters that put the seal once to shame.

"They," he said, "were good quarters. They had more silver in them than the ones the mint makes, and the design was just as pretty."

Eight years in prison was the court's way of making answer.

A Burglar Brings Relief.

Milwaukee, Wis.—A few more burglaries like the last one would help the family welfare association to do some additional welfare work.

He left the association's headquarters so hurriedly during the night that he forgot to take with him his sheepskin coat and a pair of overalls.

Neither did he steal anything.

Needed a Gas Mask.

New York—Harold Mildrum, a milk collector, wasn't afraid of a holdup man's gun, but he couldn't do a thing against tear gas.

When the thug poked a gun at Mildrum's ribs, the collector showed fight. The holdup man then pulled out a trick fountain pen, sprayed Mildrum with tear gas and escaped. But he didn't get $150 in milk collections.

Very High Finance.

Alva, Okla.—If Judas had created a trust fund of one dollar allowed to accumulate, the estate today would be worth $10,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000.

John N. Cameron, Northwestern State Teachers College mathematician, figured it out.

A Slight Error.

Portland, Ore.—A notice was mailed to Bruno Oertel that several traffic tags were out against his automobile.

Days later the Portland bureau received a letter from Oertel explaining:

That the make of car named was not his, that the license named was not his, that his car was stored in New York, and that he was in Germany. The notice had been forwarded to Oertel in Germany.

Success Story.

Pittsburgh—A 72-year-old man fell dead Saturday while digging a ditch. Hours later he was identified at the morgue as Francesco Negoni.

A search of the weather-beaten shack in which he lived as a recluse disclosed papers and bank books indicating he left an estate of $100,000.

The Last Man's Club.

Rockford, Ill.—Fifty-nine members of the "Last Man's Club" whose membership is made up of World War veterans who voted to meet until there is but one of them left, will gather November 11—Armistice Day.

Inspiration.

Chicago—The promoter of Eleanor Benninger's mirror-drafted nudity in "Venus on the Half-Shell," exhibited at the Century of Progress, was described as an "esthetic inspiration" for world fair throngs in a bill filed in superior court.

The actions seem to restrain police from forcing Eleanor to drape her figure.

Might Try Soda Pop.

Augusta, Maine—'Twas a sad day for Sanford's beer guzzlers. A Sanford motion picture theatre advertised it would give away free beer and pretzels with every adult ticket.

The state beer commission heard about it, frowned and described the proposed hospitality as being "not in keeping with the purpose of beer dispensing in Maine."

No beer will flow in the theatre lobby.

PEARS FROM MILTON BEING SHIPPED TO ENGLAND

Milton, Oct. 10.—Ten carloads of Kieffer pears were shipped from Milton for export to Liverpool and London last Thursday. This is one of the largest shipments made from this section and constitutes one of the longest journeys that pears from this section will make.

All pears brought price 40 per cent higher than last year and the Kieffers were no exception. The carloads went out from the Hudson River Fruit Exchange, Inc. At the Exchange they report most Rose pears in storage, although some are being sold for as much as $1.50 to $1.60 at the moment rather than going into storage. Five hundred barrels of Jonathan apples and 200 bushels of Kieffer pears left New York harbor Friday morning. They were loaded on the steamer Georgia and are bound for England.

RESOLUTION unanimously adopted by the Board of Directors of the HOME-SEEKERS' CO-OPERATIVE SAVINGS & LOAN ASSOCIATION of the City of Kingston, N. Y., at the regular meeting held October 2, 1933:

RESOLVED, that the Board of Directors of the Home-Seekers' Co-Operative Savings & Loan Association of the City of Kingston, N. Y., learned with sorrow and regret of the death of

REMSEN B. DU BOIS

Mr. DuBois was one of the original incorporators of the association and a member of the first Board of Directors. He served continuously in that capacity until 1920, when he was elected Vice-President, which office he still held at the time of his death. His sound judgment, exceptional ability and thorough knowledge were of inestimable value to the association and accounted in large measure for the success that has attended its operations.

The Board tender their deepest sympathy to his widow, and direct that this memorial be spread upon the records of the association and a copy transmitted to her.

REBUILDS NATIVE TOWN OF IL DUCE

Italy Also Preserves Home as National Shrine.

Predeaplo Nova, Italy.—When a baby boy was born to Alessandro and Rosa Maltoni Mussolini 20 years ago in July, this village of 8000 was called Ivoria. The boy was to become Italy's present Duce, and Ivoria, the most fortunate village in the country, was to be rebuilt and renamed Predeaplo Nova, this last word in Italian meaning "new."

And "new" is right. New houses, schools, city hall, church, square, market and music grandstand—all built in recent years and worthy of any fair-sized city.

The road, 18 kilometers long to Predeaplo Nova from Forlì is good and winds its way through an interminable series of gardens. The valley, known as Val Rabot, affords beautiful scenery. Luminous mountains tops crown the setting.

The Duce's native home easily is discernible. Its old stones stand out clearly in the sunlight from among the newer constructions, almost as those of a castle's might. The house consists of three parts. The middle section belongs to the Mussolinis and since has been declared by the state a national monument.

To the left is the shop and home of a carpenter. To the right lives a modest family, the same one that was there when Benito first saw the light of day. Mussolini insisted that both parties continue to inhabit their respective quarters.

Throughout the region of Romagna people speak of the Duce with almost a hidden sense of intimacy which better may be expressed as follows: "He is one of ours."

Any number of peasants, or tradesmen, here played with Benito as a boy, and all agreed that whenever anything "good" was arranged, Mussolini was unanimously elected their leader.

For a time Alessandro Mussolini also was a mechanic and repaired the first tractor owned by these farmers. Benito, then twelve years old, would cradle behind his father carrying the tool box along over one shoulder, these men recalled.

Of the father, local inhabitants recall his strong character and a fiery passion for politics. Of his mother, a "saint"—saint—always ready to help the needy, a real mother full of patience and forgiveness, they add.

Exterior of New Palace for League Completed

Geneva.—The exterior of the league's new $5,000,000 palace, the world's largest parliament building, capable of housing more than 8,000 statesmen, diplomats, experts, officials, pressmen and public, is completed.

The building, which is about the same size as the palace of Versailles, will be ready for occupancy in August, 1935, when the secretariat will be moved from its present cramped home in the Hotel National.

The general lines of the league palace represent an extreme simplification of classical Roman architecture inspired by modern architectural tendencies.

Around the assembly hall, like boxes at an opera and just above the heads of diplomats, are a series of rooms exclusively for the use of film men and press photographers. Behind the Presidential chair of the assembly a tall screen will probably be built with letters "SDN" in gold with blue background.

Pressmen have been well provided for in the new palace. They have three bars, fifty telephone boxes, 676 seats in the assembly and council halls, two big writing rooms, two telegraph offices, radio office, broadcasting studio and fifty-five information offices.

American architecture has influenced the construction of the new league palace, according to Julian Flegenheimer, Geneva architect and first prize winner with Niot, Paris, for a design of the new league home.

Pennsylvania Decides Farmers Not Peddlers

Harrisburg, Pa.—Farmers in Pennsylvania are not looked upon as "hawkers" or "peddlers" when it comes to the question of paying a fee to sell their wares.

Complaints against city and borough regulations setting prohibitive fees or other limitations on farmers brought this ruling, exempting them, from the attorney general's department.

"Sales by the farmer are often confused with those by hawkers, peddlers, and traveling merchants who peddle from house to house goods, wares, and merchandise.

"The ordinances against this class of salesmen, who are required to procure licenses, run into the hundreds throughout the commonwealth. These regulations are sometimes improperly used to deter the unwary farmer from exercising his right to sell the products which were raised by his own toll upon his own soil."

England Raises Stone in Honor of Pocahontas

Rehoboth, England.—Echoes of a three-century-old bit of romantic history were revived the other day when a monument to Pocahontas was unveiled here. The Indian princess who was credited with saving the life of Capt. John Smith, married John Rolfe and died in England as she was about to return to this country. Descendants of the Rolfe family and interested Americans made possible the memorial.
